How to Read Time Tables

Where only one column of stations is given with time on the left and right, the time on the left should be read DOWNWARD, and that on the right UPWARD.
All AM time is printed in LIGHT FACE type; PM time in BLACK FACE type.
The abbreviations "Ar" and "Lv" mean "Arrive" and "Leave."
Trains do not stop where no time is shown.
Trains marked * run daily; † daily, except Sunday; ‡ Stop for meals; N. Day and Night telegraph station; D. Day telegraph station.
Note all reference marks carefully.

Important Notice.

These Time Tables show the time at which trains may be expected to arrive and depart from the several stations, and to connect with other trains, but their arrival and departure or connection at the times stated is not guaranteed.
The time and information of connecting transportation companies is published for the information of passengers, and every care is taken to keep it correct; but this Company does not hold itself responsible for any errors or omissions therein.
All trains of N. C. & St. L. Ry. are operated on CENTRAL TIME.

"Promoters of Rapid, Regular and Unexcelled Freight Service"

In the handling of freight between the West, Northwest, South and Southeast the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Railway enjoys an exceptional reputation for dispatch and dependability. It operates a comprehensive scheme of merchandise cars, designed for the quick handling of package shipments, including perishable freight under ice. It has originated a system of notices to shippers and to consignees covering the movement, junction passing and arrival of carload freight. In this direction it is taking an advanced step, with especially satisfactory results.

The splendid physical condition of the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Railroad, its ample equipment and power, and the efficient organization of its Transportation Department, make possible a service which is unsurpassed.

To ship via a given line is to purchase freight transportation and is as much the purchase of a commodity as the buying of sugar. The sole difference lies in the fact that, with freight service, the best costs no more than the inferior article. Why not, in the purchase of freight transportation, bear this simple principle in mind?

The Agents named on inside front cover page of this folder will be glad to call and discuss in detail the company's service, as well as the methods used in the promotion of its patrons' interest.

INFORMATION FOR PASSENGERS.

TICKET OFFICES at all important stations are open in ample time to enable passengers to purchase tickets or to procure exchange tickets for coupons of penny scrip books or 1,000 mile books and check baggage before the departure of trains. Passengers will save money by purchasing tickets from regular railroad ticket agents and having their baggage checked before boarding trains. A passenger should not board a train that is not scheduled to stop at his point of destination.

CONDUCTORS' RATES for fares paid on trains are higher than the agents' rates for tickets purchased at ticket offices. Conductors are required to collect train rates from all passengers unprovided with tickets, except from non-agency stations and agency stations not open for the sale of tickets. Conductors are required to issue receipts for fares paid on trains.

CHILDREN under five years of age free, when accompanied by parent or guardian; five years of age and under twelve, half fare; twelve years of age and over, full fare.

LOCAL TICKETS are limited to two days and are good for continuous trip. They will be honored only in the direction they read.

COUPON TICKETS to important points in the United States, Canada and Mexico are on sale at principal ticket offices. Baggage will be checked through to destination on coupon tickets.

INTERCHANGEABLE PENNY SCRIP BOOKS, containing $25.00 worth of transportation in scrip coupons are on sale at principal ticket offices on the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Railway at $20.00 per book. These scrip coupons will be accepted in exchange for passage tickets by practically all railroad lines in the Southeast, at their face value of one cent each (except intrastate in Georgia and South Carolina.)

The Scrip Books will be limited to one year from date of sale, and are not transferable.

1000 MILE TICKETS for the exclusive use of one person and good over practically all lines in the Southeast, except Interstate in Georgia and South Carolina, are on sale at principal ticket offices at rate of $25.00; limit one year from date of sale. Mileage tickets will not be honored by conductors on trains nor for checking baggage, but coupons thereof must be exchanged for tickets.

LOST TICKETS. Railway Companies are not responsible for tickets lost by passengers. Their value will not be refunded, unless ticket is afterwards found and sent in with claim.

UNUSED TICKETS of this Company's issue will be redeemed by the General Passenger Agent at full purchase price when no portion of the trip has been made; if partially used, regular rate will be charged for the used portion and the difference, if any, refunded. Refund will only be made to original purchaser.

BAGGAGE. 150 pounds of baggage not exceeding $100.00 in value will be checked without charge for each adult passenger, and 75 pounds not exceeding $50.00 in value for each child of proper age, unless a greater sum is declared by passenger and charges paid for increased valuation. Excess will be charged for at regular excess baggage rates, for excess weight and excess valuation, also excess size. No single piece of baggage weighing over 250 lbs. will be checked. Baggage is usually forwarded on same train with passengers, but this is not guaranteed. As an extra precaution to prevent possible loss or delay all baggage should be marked with owner's name and address.

Storage will be charged on baggage remaining at stations over 24 hours, checked or not checked. Baggage received on Saturday will be held without storage until same hour Monday. Legal holidays will be treated same as Sundays, but no deduction will be made for Sundays or legal holidays after storage has begun.

CORPSES. A full fare ticket regardless of age of deceased must be presented for the transportation of a corpse, and the corpse must be accompanied by an adult person on the same train holding transportation. The minimum fare for a one-way ticket for any corpse will be $1.00. A corpse will not be checked beyond a station at which a wagon transfer is required. Transit permit from Board of Health will be required.

BICYCLES AND BABY CARRIAGES will be charged for at regular excess baggage rates on basis of 50 lbs. each, minimum charge of 25c each. They will not be included in free baggage allowance.

INVALID CHAIRS will be handled free in baggage cars at owner's risk when accompanied by invalid owner on same train presenting regular passage ticket.

DOGS will not be allowed in coaches, parlor or sleeping cars. One dog on chain or in crate or kennel will be transported free over the N., C. & St. L. Ry. in baggage cars at owner's risk when accompanied by owner or care taker traveling on same train. Additional dogs will be charged for at tariff rates.

ADJUSTMENT OF DIFFERENCES. Conductors and agents are governed by the rules of the Company. In cases of dispute with them, it is best to pay the fare requested, take receipt and refer the matter to the General Passenger Agent, who will promptly investigate.

All Eyes Are On Chattanooga

Partial Panorama of Chattanooga Business District in 1914

Why? Because —

Nature endowed her with unrivaled charm.

Historic interest bestowed on her by civil war events is greater than enjoyed by any other one community.

Her industry and commerce, on account of wealth of resources and splendid location for distribution of finished products, have become tremendous factors, reaching out to every section of the United States and across the seas.

Manifold are the attractions Chattanooga offers travelers, and manifold are the objects which any one can accomplish by a visit there. He will find the city of greatest historical and scenic interest of the entire south.

One of the Hydro-electric Plants Furnishing 150,000 Horsepower to Chattanooga

He can "prospect" for the location or relocation of a factory; for a desirable home in which to spend declining years; for business opportunity in almost any line that is his forte.

It does not matter what season of the year the visitor chances to reach Chattanooga. With its delightful, equable climate (averaging 60 degrees the year round, with only short periods of rain or cold) he can make Chattanooga his destination in fall, winter, spring and summer, and enjoy his sojourn. If he is wintering further south he should figure to be in Chattanooga during that interval when it is too hot on the Gulf territory, and not yet warm enough in his northern home. All railroads grant stop-overs at Chattanooga. These conditions, plus the wealth of historic and scenic interest, make Chattanooga an unsurpassed place for conventions at any time of year.

Orchard Knob, Gen. Grant's Headquarters—Typical of How Civil War History at Chattanooga is Perpetuated

The same advantages of location, commanding best distribution in a large territory, that made Chattanooga a point of contention more than fifty years ago in the civil war, have converted it into a manufacturing and commercial center with good promise of first place among the live cities in the south. On the fields of Chattanooga and vicinity probably more lead and iron was distributed from the mouths of smoking cannon and smaller arms than on any other battlefield of that strife. Today Chattanooga melts more iron within her borders, as witnessed by smoking industrial chimneys, and distributes it in the channels of trade, than any other southern city.

Ground that trembled with the rush of artillery and the tread of marching soldiery now feels the constant hurrying tread of another generation of men, alert to make a great city on the hallowed site. Instead of military orders, the biddings of industrial captains cause activity in the valley. Instead of the power of gunpowder bent on destruction, there is the power of steam, and electricity from harnessed rivers, bent on building up by turning the wheels of factories, present and to come. Instead of the straggling village, dotted with tents of an army, there is a cosmopolitan, modern city, with attractive buildings and adequate facilities for enjoying life, as seen in the picture on pages 33 and 34.

Chattanooga, while wearing with pride and veneration the gems which history has placed upon her, is not living in the past, but is taking advantage of her more potent inheritance—those natural conditions which the military leaders saw and sought to control. The city's location, as related to others of the south and north, possesses rare commercial advantage. Then, too, the district is rich in resources which predict her ultimate triumph. Coal, iron and timber—these stand foremost, possibly, and were the first to be discovered, the earliest to be developed—exist in large quantities, iron and coal being practically unlimited. There are also deposits of other valuable materials, the development of which is still in its infancy, but will have great bearings on the future of Chattanooga and surrounding country. Today nearly 300 successful industries give testimony to the advantages of Chattanooga. With increasing knowledge of the city's nearby resources—especially iron—and availability of 150,000 electrical horse power from two rivers, it is a foregone conclusion that Chattanooga will become much greater industrially, and in size.

Visitors are astounded by the number and diversity of Chattanooga's manufactured products, a large part of which may be viewed in the all-year-round exhibit of the Manufacturers' Association. A careful tabulation of articles made in Chattanooga shows their number to be more than 1,100. Articles made in various sizes are counted only once. Chattanooga manufacturers are constantly on the lookout for other industries that could be expected to thrive there. The field is broad and many lines not represented would flourish. Many of them would command a large market right in Chattanooga, from manufacturers who are now compelled to send away for material that could, and should, be made there. Responsible manufacturers desiring a factory, a branch, or a distributing station in Chattanooga may count on any reasonable degree of co-operation by the people there, who, when conditions warrant, are in a position to build factories, warehouses, etc., for the right kind of newcomers.

The same attractions which make Chattanooga the mecca yearly of thousands of tourists, by families and small parties, have established her reputation as a convention city. Probably no city in the country, large or small, has such diversity of interest for convention visitors. Nearly all conventions leave some time to spare for delegates to enjoy the surroundings in which the meeting is held. Chattanooga—scenically, historically, industrially—has an abundance of interest for the leisure periods of her convention guests, whether such leisure runs into hours or days. With few exceptions the principal points of interest are less than an hour from the city auditorium and other downtown meeting places, and can be reached by street car as well as automobiles, sight-seeing cars, and other conveyances. Every place of especial note, including the $10,000,000 Brady power plant on the Tennessee river (visible from the N., C. & St. L. railway), is connected with the city by good automobile roads. Chickamauga, best marked battlefield in the world, not only comes under this head, but its more than 6,000 acres is a network of splendid drives, built and maintained by the national government.

Chattanooga's latchstring is always on the outside for conventions. Her hearty invitation is permanently extended to all organizations that hold stated meetings. Size is no hindrance—whether scores, hundreds or thousands. Chattanooga is the only city to entertain the veterans of both armies, union and confederate, in the same year (1913). The total was more than 100,000.

Any one desiring more detailed information about Chattanooga than contained in this brief survey, will have his wants promptly supplied by application to the CHAMBER OF COMMERCE, Chattanooga, Tenn.
